

Canceling the application publication by the trading initiator

The function of canceling the publication of an application or any lot contained in the order is available to the trading initiator. To do this, the initiator goes to the trading calendar page, selects the required order (click "View"), having previously selected the client on whose behalf the application was published from the list of clients, selects the required lots - if it is necessary to cancel the entire application - selects all lots and clicks "Cancel publication".

As a result of these actions, the lots for which the publication has been canceled will be grayed out, the status of the lots will change to "Publication was canceled by the initiator", and if there are bids from other participants in the trades for these lots, the margin will be returned to them automatically.

In addition, on lots, for which the publication was canceled, it is impossible to apply for participation, and with the advent of trading time these lots do not fall into the trading session and bids on them are not accepted.
